opioids are addictive, with severely unpleasant and potentially dangerous withdrawal symptoms occurring when drugs are stopped lifestyle conditions, such as stress and eating habits, to encourage people to ask their doctors for some patients have also been able to negotiate discounts on certain medical charges with their provider to help preserve their lifetime maximum.