information is published in a number of different places or disciplines and is sometimes presented in broader studies of communities (e.g.